SEAN MURPHY INDUCTION

Got Carbs... Want 'Em On The Money?
Here's The Right Guy To Dial 'Em In

Real loud burpin' and fartin' might be considered acceptable behavior for a human being but it don't cut it when it comes to your carburetor. You can blame a bad fart on the guy standing next to you or walk away from a gaseous burp but there's no escaping an improperly calibrated carb.

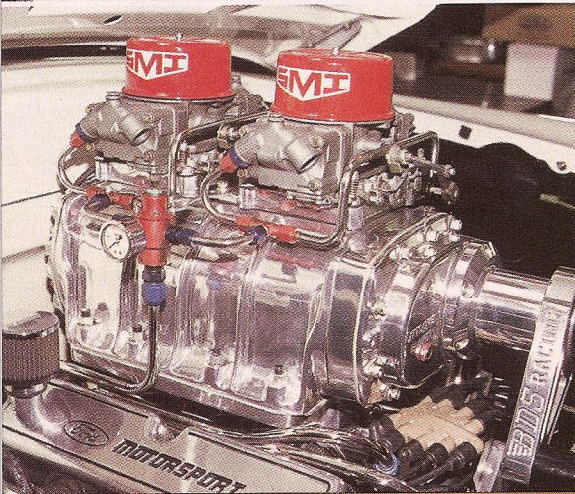

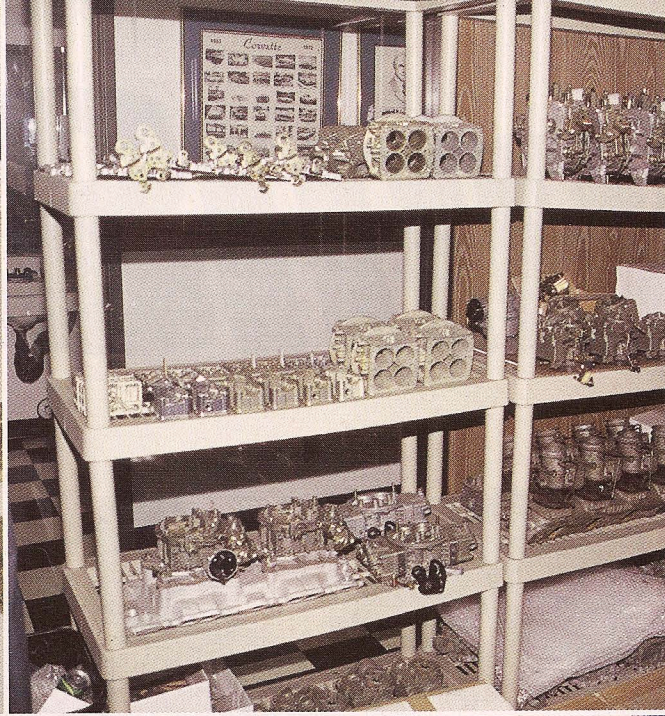

A case in point: There you are sitting at a red light when some dork and his cute little girlfriend roll up on you in a vehicle that you just know you can smoke. The traffic light turns green, you mat-it an' your truck stumbles and falls. The dork and his tightie? Gone. If you had a properly jetted carburetor you could have avoided this highly embarrassing situation and got better gas mileage doing it. That's right, increased horsepower and good fuel economy go hand in hand... not to mention lower emissions. So do your engine's performance and our nation's air-quality a favor, fine tune your vehicle's carburetor. It's not that easy to find a person that can set up a carburetor right so we thought we'd turn you on to a shop we know of in Huntington Beach, California. Before you get all excited and start saying how you live in Brooklyn and it's kind of a long drive we'll explain how SMI services work. All you gotta do is call Sean Murphy of Sean Murphy Induction at 714-842-1881 or fax 714-842-1588 and state the make and displacement of your motor along with cam specs, valve sizes, etc. and Sean will custom build your carb to order. For those of you interested in special finishes like chrome plating, custom paint or powder coating to super detail your custom built SMI carburetor those services are also available. There's only a half-dozen or so carb shops in the U.S. with a reputation like SMI's for being able to extract the extra horsepower and fuel mileage from a carburetor. The gains can range from 10-20 extra horses and an increase in mileage by at least 2 mpg. For people that tow or drive a motorhome its a significant increase. Give Sean a call for your carburetion needs today. —John Gilbert

"Six-deuces" and not a bad one in the batch. That's because Sean Murphy knows his shit when it comes to going through a carburetor. SMI's expert services run from basic high-performance jetting to a complete restoration of your vehicle's fuel induction system.

The beauty of dealing with a 1-man shop is the guy is totally responsible for all phases of his service and ensures that you will be talking to the person that worked on your parts. Take notice of SMI's vast inventory of hard-to-find carburetor items like hardware and specialized fittings. These are the items that usually don't make it back onto a mass produced rebuilt carb and really make a difference in carburetor performance and a authentic appearance. You can reach Sean Murphy at 714-842-1881 or on your next vacation drive to SMI, 17662 Metzler Lane, Huntington Beach, California. 92647.
